10. Aims of the programme

The programme aims to enable students to develop critical thinking skills, reflective practice and disciplined enquiry to postgraduate level and provide students with a thorough theoretical grounding in the psychometric assessment of cognitive processes that underlie literacy-related difficulties. It is designed to produce enlightened, reflective practitioners who have the specialist subject knowledge necessary to competently assess and plan intervention programmes for learners with literacy-related difficulties. It also aims to develop students' ability to deal systematically with complex educational issues and to communicate their specialist knowledge to specialist and non-specialist audiences in a range of settings

15. Future careers / progression

Future Careers: Completing the PGCert in Specialist Assessment for Literacy-related Difficulties is likely to enhance students' suitability for working with school, further education and higher education establishments and in other settings (such as juvenile offender, young offender and adult offender units) in education assessment roles. Completion of this postgraduate certificate can lead to specialist assessor membership with a relevant professional body (e.g., BDA, Dyslexia Guild, Patoss).

Progression: Students from this programme will be well equipped to undertake further study at postgraduate level.

16. Particular support for learning (if applicable)

- Support for online learning will be given as this programme is delivered via distance learning.
- Students entering the programme may have a range of recent academic experience, with some continuing students, and some with a gap between their last studies at higher education and/or master's level.
- Advice is available on all the modules to support any student with the study skills they need to undertake the programme including: critical analysis, critical writing and academic referencing.
- Students are also encouraged to think critically about the area of special educational needs relevant to their particular educational setting.
- Technical support for the virtual learning platform and any general technology support issues is provided by the Dyslexia Action/ Real Training IT department. Pastoral support is also provided by the tutor team who ensure each student's needs are treated according to their individual situation.
